Leah Andreoni is a Marriage and Family Therapist with expertise working with maternal mental health. She has 20 years working within the mental health field in various capacities and now owns Rising Sun Therapy in Harleysville. Rising Sun Therapy is a therapy and wellness space focused on supporting teens and women through connection and creativity within workshops, groups, and talk therapy.

Leah nurtures the impact connection has on an individual's healing and creates a space where women and teens feel safe, heard, and valued. She has cultivated a team devoted to curiosity, growth, and compassion.
